Dr. Osowski has had a long and varied career in the education and science realms. His most recent position, from which he retired in 2009, was Vice President for Learning and Teaching at Liberty Science Center, where he was responsible for oversight and development of all on-site, off-site, and on-line educational programs.

Prior to that, he was Vice President for Education Policy at the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce. For twenty years, Dr. Osowski served in several leadership roles in the New Jersey State Department of Education, including Assistant Commissioner for the Division of Information and Management Services, and Director of the Division of Special Education. He also has been a school district administrator, school psychologist, and teacher. He has had a life-long passion for collecting minerals, especially from the Franklin and Sterling Hill mines.
